Tribal Recovery Resource Guide

Overview

The California Governor's Office of Emergency Services (Cal OES), Interagency Recovery Coordination is comprised of six Recovery Support Functions (RSF) teams. The teams are Community Planning & Capacity Building (CPCB), Natural & Cultural Resources (NCR), Health & Social Services (HSS), Economic (ECON), Housing (HSG), and Infrastructure Systems (INF). The role of the RSF teams is to help communities with long-term recovery after disasters strike. This includes help to find additional funding opportunities that fall outside of Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and State Public/Individual Assistance.

California is home to 109 federally recognized tribes and several non-federally recognized tribes. There are nearly 100 separate reservations or Rancherias throughout the state.[1] Many of these reservations and Rancherias are in remote/woodsy areas of California and at risk for wildfire damages.

The California Governor's Office of Emergency Service's Natural & Cultural Resources RSF has developed the Tribal Recovery Resource Guide to provide an overview of resources to assist affected Tribes with recovery efforts. This includes resources that will support local housing, economic and infrastructure recovery, as well as opportunities for increasing local resilience to future disasters.

California Consortium for Urban Indian Health
Traditions of Health

Application Deadline	Please Contact to Discuss
Program Description	The California Consortium for Urban Indian Health's Traditions of Health project aims to improve the integration of behavioral health and primary care for Urban Indians by advancing the cultural revitalization efforts of Urban Indian Health Organizations (UIHO) in California. This project convened key stakeholders to advance policy reform and sustainability planning, and worked to develop culturally specific, integrated systems of wellness for Urban Indians. CCUIH developed the Culturally Relevant Integration Model to empower UIHOs to return to integrated wellness practices. This model is the result of one year of planning, informed by our Traditional Health Taskforce, Behavioral Health Peer Network, and Traditional Healers Advisory Committee along with key stakeholder interviews. The Culturally Relevant Integration Model is a tool that UIHOs can use to implement integration approaches to address the organizational changes required to meet the holistic needs of the people they serve. This model is designed to strengthen the use of American Indian cultural practices within systems of care to increase access to traditional knowledge and to ensure that wellness practices remain community-centered and culturally relevant through this time of healthcare reform and for generations to come.

Federal Emergency Management Agency Tribal Affairs
Application Deadline	N/A
Program Description	Tribal governments and their members are an essential part of our nation's emergency management team. Effective relationships with tribes are necessary to fulfill FEMA's mission of working together to improve our nation's disaster preparedness and response. FEMA is committed to supporting Indian Country in its efforts to build more resilient and better prepared communities. Along with the need to ensure the safety of tribal communities and tribal lands in the face of disasters, FEMA shares the U.S. government's unique nation to nation relationship with federally recognized tribes. FEMA acknowledges the sovereignty of federally recognized tribes and is committed to enhancing our working relationship with tribal governments to improve emergency and disaster responsiveness throughout Indian Country.

US Environmental Protection Agency Healthy Watersheds Program
Application Deadline	Ongoing
Program Description	The Healthy Watersheds Program conceptual framework views watersheds as integrated systems that can be understood through assessments, which capture the interacting dynamics of their essential ecological attributes. Since watersheds are not static systems, healthy watersheds assessments should incorporate expected future changes, including land and water use changes, and should consider vulnerability to climate change and population growth. Healthy watershed assessments focus on six key attributes to characterize watershed health and vulnerability: natural landscape cover, geomorphology, habitat, water quality, hydrology, and biological diversity.

AB 434 Super Notice of Funding Availability (NOFA)

Application Deadline	July 12, 2023
Program Description	The Super NOFA is issued to distribute funds through a combination of HCD-administered multifamily rental housing programs. The Super NOFA and the guidelines for those programs implement the requirements of California Assembly Bill No. 434 (AB 434) (Chapter 192, Statutes of 2020). AB 434 amends, repeals and adds sections to the Health and Safety Code and to the Military and Veterans Code in relation to the Designated Programs. Programs providing funding pursuant to this Super NOFA include the following: • Multifamily Housing Program (MHP) which provides loans to assist the new construction, rehabilitation, and preservation of permanent and transitional rental housing for lower income households; • Veterans Housing and Homelessness Prevention (VHHP) Program which provides funds for acquisition, construction, rehabilitation, and preservation of affordable multifamily housing for veterans and their families to allow veterans to access and maintain housing stability; • Joe Serna, Jr. Farmworker Housing Grant (FWHG) Program which provides construction loans or deferred loans for multifamily housing, new construction, or rehabilitation to serve agricultural workers with a priority for lower income households; • Infill Incentive Grant Program of 2007 and 2019 (IIG) which provides grant assistance available as gap funding for infrastructure improvements necessary for specific residential or mixed-use infill development projects. Under IIG, eligible infrastructure improvements are referred to as Capital Improvement Projects (CIPs). They are associated with specific residential or mixed-use infill development projects, or Qualified Infill Projects.

California Department of Housing & Community Development (HCD) Portfolio Reinvestment Program (PRP)
Application Deadline	July 18, 2022, Next Application Window TBD
Program Description	This funding provides loans to rehabilitate, capitalize operating subsidy reserves for, and extend the long-term affordability of department-funded housing projects that have an affordability restriction that has expired, that have an affordability restriction with a remaining term of less than five years, or are otherwise at risk for conversion to market rate. The goal is to preserve existing affordable housing. The PRP NOFA is restricted to HCD-funded multifamily rental housing projects whose regulatory agreement(s) expire no later than 12/31/26. There is a $50 million small project set aside (for projects of no more than 20 units) and a $100 million setaside for residential hotels. All eligible multifamily rental housing projects must have at least five units. The NOFA provides funds for rehabilitation as well as to capitalize short-term operating subsidies. Projects that receive loans will enter into a new long-term Regulatory Agreement, thereby preserving the project for at least another 30 years.
Eligibility	Business, Individual, Nonprofit, Public Agency, Tribal Government Eligible applicants must be owners of eligible HCD-funded projects or must have been approved by HCD to acquire an eligible project and must meet all requirements for being a Sponsor and having site control.

US Department of Labor
Employment & Training Administration
Critical Sector Job Quality Grants

Application Deadline	July 17, 2023
Program Description	The purpose of this demonstration program is to support transformative efforts to improve job quality and availability of good jobs, particularly for the benefit of historically marginalized populations and communities that have experienced barriers to employment in good jobs. The primary focus of these demonstration grants is expanding job quality in the care, climate resiliency and clean energy transition, and hospitality sectors. These demonstration grants will support industry-led, worker-centered sector strategies built through labor-management partnerships aimed at improving job quality in key sectors. These partnerships will address equity, job quality, and worker voice as they design training models and train workers for family-supporting jobs. High-quality jobs, for the purposes of this grant program, include those that offer family-sustaining wages and benefits, have predictable hours and schedules, are filled through transparent and nondiscriminatory hiring and promotion practices, offer clear paths for advancement, always prioritize worker health and safety, and include workers' voices in the workplace. Projects under this announcement will fund both short-term capacity-building planning grants and longer-term implementation grants. This funding is authorized by the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) sec. 169(c) and appropriated under the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2022 (Pub. L. 117-103, Div. H) for carrying out Demonstration and Pilot projects related to the employment and training needs of dislocated workers, other adults, or youth. Questions regarding this Funding Opportunity Announcement (FOA) may be emailed to DOL-ETA-DWG@dol.gov. We encourage prospective applicants and interested parties to use the Grants.gov subscription option to register for future updates provided for this particular FOA.

US Economic Development Administration (EDA) FY 2021 American Rescue Plan Act Indigenous Communities
Application Deadline	September 30, 2022, Next Application Window TBD
Program Description	Through this Indigenous Communities Notice of Funding Opportunity (NOFO), EDA aims to assist indigenous communities to recover economically from the coronavirus pandemic. Even before the pandemic, indigenous communities faced high levels of economic distress and unique economic development challenges, resulting in severe inequalities in opportunity for members of these communities. The pandemic greatly exacerbated those challenges and inequities and will continue to cause deep economic injury to indigenous communities in unprecedented ways.

Cal OES

	EDA's American Rescue Plan Indigenous Communities NOFO is designed to support indigenous communities as they respond to, and recover from, the economic impacts of the coronavirus pandemic, including long-term recovery and resilience to future economic disasters. Under this announcement, EDA solicits applications under the authority of its Economic Adjustment Assistance (EAA) program, which is intended to be flexible and responsive to the economic development needs and priorities of indigenous communities.
	Competitive applications for funding under this NOFO will propose projects designed to create the conditions for economic growth in indigenous communities and to accelerate economic recovery from the pandemic. These projects can include foundational economic infrastructure projects, such as such as broadband, energy, road, water, and wastewater infrastructure (including community water facilities); vocational and higher education facilities; and community health facilities that are necessary for future job creation. Projects can also include non-construction projects to provide technical assistance to support business development, entrepreneurship assistance, economic development planning, rural prosperity, and workforce training in indigenous communities. Further, EDA seeks to fund projects representing diverse geographies, from rural and urban settings to projects on or near tribal lands.

Sierra Nevada Conservancy 2022 Strategic Land Conservation Directed Grant Program
Application Deadline	May 6, 2022
Program Description	The Sierra Nevada Conservancy recognizes land conservation as an important tool for achieving holistic watershed health. The Strategic Lands Conserved goal in the SNC's Strategic Plan focuses on protection of high-risk and/or high-priority lands. These lands provide a range of benefits including working landscapes; recreation opportunities; and protection of unique cultural and natural areas, as well as key wildlife habitat. Additionally, climate change is likely to have impacts yet unseen on the Region and strategically conserving land will become increasingly important as the Region adapts to further changes in the future.

	This grant program conserves lands through the planning and implementation of fee title and conservation easement acquisitions.
Eligibility	Eligible Applicants: Nonprofit, Public Agency, Tribal Government
	Eligible Geographies: The Sierra Nevada region includes the mountains and foothills of the Sierra Nevada range, the Mono Basin, Owens Valley, the Modoc Plateau, and parts of the southern Cascade Range and Klamath Mountains. The region covers nearly 27 million acres and includes all or part of 24 counties in California.
Maximum Award	Dependent
Application Process	• Applicants must contact the SNC Area Representative assigned to their county to determine whether a potential project meets the intent of the guidelines and is eligible for consideration.
	• Concept Proposals will be accepted through May 6, 2022.
	• Mandatory site visits will be conducted for all implementation projects, with all site visits complete by July 1, 2022
	• For those projects invited, Full Proposals will be accepted through July 22, 2022.
